

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
DISTRICT OF NEVADA

Anthony Barone, Jr.,

Plaintiff,

V.

Aaron Ford, et al.,

Defendants.

Case No. 2:24-cv-00130-JAD-BNW

Order and Report and Recommendation

Plaintiff is proceeding pro se under 28 U.S.C. § 1915 and has filed an application to proceed in forma pauperis. ECF No. 1. Plaintiff also submitted a complaint. ECF No. 1-1.

I. In forma pauperis application.

Plaintiff has filed the application required by § 1915(a). ECF No. 1. Plaintiff has shown an inability to prepay fees and costs or to give security for them. Accordingly, the request to proceed in forma pauperis will be granted pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 1915(a). The Court will now screen Plaintiff's complaint.

II. Screening standard.

Upon granting an application to proceed in forma pauperis, courts additionally screen the complaint under § 1915(e). Federal courts are given the authority to dismiss a case if the action is legally “frivolous or malicious,” fails to state a claim upon which relief may be granted, or seeks monetary relief from a defendant who is immune from such relief. 28 U.S.C. § 1915(e)(2). When a court dismisses a complaint under § 1915, the plaintiff should be given leave to amend the complaint with directions as to curing its deficiencies, unless it is clear from the face of the complaint that the deficiencies could not be cured by amendment. See Cato v. United States, 70 F.3d 1103, 1106 (9th Cir. 1995).

1 Rule 12(b)(6) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure provides for dismissal of a
 2 complaint for failure to state a claim upon which relief can be granted. Review under Rule
 3 12(b)(6) is essentially a ruling on a question of law. See Chappel v. Lab. Corp. of Am., 232 F.3d
 4 719, 723 (9th Cir. 2000). A properly pled complaint must provide a short and plain statement of 5 the claim showing that the pleader is entitled to relief. Fed. R. Civ. P. 8(a)(2); Bell Atlantic Corp.
 6 v. Twombly, 550 U.S. 544, 555 (2007). Although Rule 8 does not require detailed factual 7 allegations, it demands “more than labels and conclusions” or a “formulaic recitation of the 8 elements of a cause of action.” Ashcroft v. Iqbal, 556 U.S. 662, 678 (2009). The court must accept 9 as true all well-pled factual allegations contained in the complaint, but the same requirement does 10 not apply to legal conclusions. Iqbal, 556 U.S. at 679. Mere recitals of the elements of a cause of 11 action, supported only by conclusory allegations, do not suffice. Id. at 678. Secondly, where the 12 claims in the complaint have not crossed the line from conceivable to plausible, the complaint
 13 should be dismissed. Twombly, 550 U.S. at 570. Allegations of a pro se complaint are held to less
 14 stringent standards than formal pleadings drafted by lawyers. Hebbe v. Pliler, 627 F.3d 338, 342
 15 & n.7 (9th Cir. 2010) (finding that liberal construction of pro se pleadings is required after 16 Twombly and Iqbal).

17 III. Screening

18 1. Summary of allegations

19 Plaintiff Anthony Barone had been the caretaker and guardian for Nicholas Sarnelli, a 20 veteran, for many years. In his complaint, he alleges he and Sarnelli have been denied various 21 constitutional rights during guardianship proceedings in state court by several defendants. Judge
 22 Linda Marquis, who is a named defendant, presided over the case. He also names the Attorney 23 General’s Office, Legal Aid of Southern Nevada, and Michael Kostrinsky (an attorney for Legal 24 Aid) as defendants based on their actions during the state court proceeding.¹ He also names Sonja

 26
 27 ¹ While he names Nevada Guardianship Services, LLC as a defendant, Plaintiff does not plead any 28 allegations against it. As a result, the Court recommends that Nevada Guardianship Services, LLC be dismissed with leave to amend.

1 Jones, who appears to have some connection to the Nevada Supreme Court, and Nevada
2 Guardianship Services, LLC, as defendants.

3 Separately, Plaintiff alleges the Veteran Administration Office should not have allowed
4 the state court to handle this matter and also complains of retaliatory acts.

5 Plaintiff seeks the following relief:

- 7 Enjoining Judge Marquis and Legal Aid of Southern Nevada from any further action on the guardianship case
- 8 A change of venue in the guardianship case
- 9 A preservation order in relation to the guardianship case
- 10 Monetary damages

11 2. Plaintiff cannot represent Nicholas Sarnelli

12 At the outset, given Plaintiff is proceeding pro se, he cannot represent another Plaintiff.
13 See Johns v. County of San Diego, 114 F.3d 874, 876 (9th Cir.1997) (“While a non-attorney may 14 appear pro se on his own behalf, he has no authority to appear as an attorney for others than 15 himself.”). As a result, the Court will recommend that Plaintiff Nicholas Sarnelli be dismissed
16 from the case. Next, the Court will summarize and analyze each claim below.

17 3. Claims under 42 U.S.C. § 1983

18 Many of Plaintiff’s claims are based on Title 42 U.S.C. § 1983, which provides that 19 “[e]very person who, under color of [law], subjects, or causes to be subjected, any citizen of the 20 United States . . . to the deprivation of any rights, privileges, or immunities secured by the 21 Constitution and laws, shall be liable to the party injured in an action at law” Section 1983
22 does not create any substantive rights but provides a method for enforcing rights contained in the 23 Constitution or federal statutes. Crowley v. Nev. ex. rel. Nev. Sec’y of State, 678 F.3d 730, 734
24 (9th Cir. 2012). To state a claim under 42 U.S.C. § 1983, a plaintiff must allege “(1) the 25 defendants acting under color of state law (2) deprived plaintiffs of rights secured by the 26 Constitution or federal statutes.” Williams v. California, 764 F.3d 1002, 1009 (9th Cir. 2014)
27 (quotations omitted).

28

1 Claim 1 (against Defendants Marquis and Aaron Ford)

2 Plaintiff alleges that Judge Linda Marquis issued subpoenas for his personal banking
 3 records. Although not too clear, it appears he takes issue with the fact that the Attorney General's 4 Office (Aaron Ford)² defended the issuance of these subpoenas. In turn, he alleges he has been 5 denied his Fourteenth Amendment's due process right.

6 While he names both Aaron Ford and Judge Marquis, he does not allege any facts to 7 support how Aaron Ford's office deprived him of his due process right. That is, even if the Office
 8 of the Attorney General defended the issuance of these subpoenas, the deprivation of due process, 9 if any, has to do with his allegation that Judge Marquis did not allow him to participate in the 10 process—not with the Attorney General's defense of such issuance. As a result, the Court
 11 recommends that this claim be dismissed against Aaron Ford with prejudice.

12 Regarding Judge Marquis, judges are generally accorded absolute immunity if their acts
 13 are performed in their official capacities.” Olsen v. Idaho State Bd. of Med., 363 F.3d 916, 922
 14 (9th Cir. 2004). Judicial immunity applies to claims arising under § 1983. Agnew v. Moody, 330
 15 F.2d 868, 870 (9th Cir. 1964). Judicial immunity is subject to certain limitations: “[j]udges are not 16 immune from suit where (1) their actions do not constitute a judicial act, and (2) they have acted
 17 in the ‘clear absence of all jurisdiction.’” Id. (citing Stump v. Sparkman, 435 U.S. 349, 356–57 18 (1978)).

19 “To determine if a given action is judicial . . . , courts focus on whether (1) the precise act
 20 is a normal judicial function; (2) the events occurred in the judge’s chambers; (3) the controversy
 21 centered around a case then pending before the judge; and (4) the events at issue arose directly 22 and immediately out of a confrontation with the judge in his or her official capacity.” Ashelman v.
 23 Pope, 793 F.2d 1072, 1075–76 (9th Cir. 1986). “To determine if the judge acted with jurisdiction,
 24 courts focus on whether the judge was acting clearly beyond the scope of subject matter

 26 ² Although Plaintiff names Aaron Ford as a defendant, it is not clear whether he intends to sue the State of 27 Nevada, Aaron Ford himself, or an attorney working at the Attorney General’s Office. See ECF No. 1-1 p.
 28 3. Since the Court is recommending the dismissal of this claim, it will not delve into the separate concerns that might arise depending on who it is that Plaintiff intends to sue when naming Aaron Ford as a defendant.

1 jurisdiction in contrast to personal jurisdiction.” Id. at 1076. Judges have been found to retain
 2 immunity even when they misinterpret the law or when their actions are erroneous and malicious.
 3 See Wilson v. Ayers, No. 2:07-CV-01283-LRH-LRL, 2009 WL 1940102, at *2 (D. Nev. July 7, 4 2009), aff’d, 470 F. App’x 654 (9th Cir. 2012) (collecting cases).

5 Even liberally construing Plaintiff’s claim, the court finds that the claims against Judge
 6 Marquis are barred by judicial immunity. Judge Marquis’ actions constituted judicial acts because 7 they were taken as part of her normal function as a state court judge; the events related to a case
 8 pending before her; and her acts were done in her official capacity. Plaintiff does not allege facts
 9 indicating that Judge Marquis’ actions were not judicial acts or that she acted in clear absence of 10 all jurisdiction. Given that Plaintiff’s claim is barred by judicial immunity, it does not appear that 11 additional factual allegations would overcome immunity. As a result, the Court recommends that 12 this claim against Judge Marquis be dismissed with prejudice.

13 Claim 2

14 Plaintiff asserts he was denied his Sixth Amendment rights. He alleges Defendants Legal 15 Aid of Southern Nevada, Michael Kostrinsky, Sonja Jones, and Aaron Ford, conspired with each 16 other and presented false reports to Judge Marquis. In turn, he alleges Judge Marquis ignored the 17 evidence he presented, which resulted in an order divesting him of his inability to continue 18 overseeing and disbursing the assets belonging to his nephew, Sarnelli.

19 But the Sixth Amendment applies only to criminal prosecutions. United States v. 1995
 20 Jeep Cherokee, 168 F.3d 503 (9th Cir. 1999). As a result, the Court recommends this claim be 21 dismissed with prejudice.

22 Claim 3

23 Plaintiff alleges defendants Michael Kostrinsky and Legal Aid violated his due process
 24 rights and equal protection rights by not following the Nevada Rules of Professional Conduct and 25 other rules. But he does not provide facts to explain what the violations were or how such alleged 26 violations impinge on those specific constitutional rights. Moreover, §1983 does not proscribe
 27 private conduct and this claim is against a private agency and one of his employees. See Aasum v.
 28

1 Good Samaritan Hospital, 542 F.2d 792, 794 (9th Cir. 1976). As a result, the Court recommends
 2 that this claim be dismissed with prejudice.

3 Claim 4

4 Plaintiff alleges he filed a motion for sanctions, but that Judge Marquis falsely claimed
 5 Plaintiff did not request a hearing in order to avoid addressing the motion. In turn, he alleges his 6 due process and equal protection rights were violated. While he names both Aaron Ford and 7 Judge Marquis as defendants, he does not allege any facts to support how Aaron Ford's office
 8 deprived him of his due process right. And the heart of his allegations is focused on Judge
 9 Marquis' actions—not Aaron Ford's. Thus, Aaron Ford is not a proper defendant as to this claim.
 10 In addition, as explained above, this claim against Judge Marquis is barred by principles of 11 judicial immunity. As a result, the Court recommends that this claim be dismissed with prejudice.

12 Claim 5

13 Plaintiff alleges that Judge Marquis and Aaron Ford violated his due process rights and 14 equal protection rights by not following the rules of judicial conduct. But Plaintiff does not 15 provide facts to explain how he arrives at that conclusion. Moreover, it is not clear how Aaron 16 Ford (or his office) could be held responsible for not following the rules of judicial conduct.
 17 Lastly, this claim against Judge Marquis is barred by principles of judicial immunity. As a result,
 18 the Court will recommend that this claim be dismissed with prejudice.

19 Claim 6

20 Plaintiff alleges he presented a complaint about Judge Marquis to the Nevada Commission 21 of Judicial Discipline and that they refused to take action. In turn, he alleges those in the 22 commission (John and Jane Does) violated his right to equal protection.

23 “Bare assertions amounting to nothing more than a formulaic recitation of the elements”
 24 of a claim “are not entitled to an assumption of truth.” Moss v. U.S. Secret Service, 572 F.3d 962, 25 969 (9th Cir. 2009) (“the non-conclusory ‘factual content,’ and reasonable inferences from that 26 content, must be plausibly suggestive of a claim entitling the plaintiff to relief.”). In addition, “the 27 Equal Protection Clause of the Fourteenth Amendment commands that no State shall deny to any 28 person within its jurisdiction the equal protection of the laws, which is essentially a direction that

1 all persons similarly situated should be treated alike.” Lee v. City of Los Angeles, 250 F.3d 668,
 2 686 (9th Cir. 2001) (internal quotations omitted) (citing City of Cleburne, Tex. v. Cleburne Living
 3 Ctr., 473 U.S. 432, 439 (1985)). To demonstrate a §1983 claim for a Fourteenth Amendment 4 equal protection violation, “a plaintiff must show that the defendants acted with an intent or 5 purpose to discriminate against the plaintiff based upon membership in a protected class.” Lee, 6 250 F.3d at 686 (internal quotations omitted). Plaintiff does not explain which protected class is at 7 play. As a result, he has not properly pled this claim. The Court recommends that this claim be
 8 dismissed with leave to amend.

9 Claim 7

10 Plaintiff alleges, in conclusionary fashion, that Michael Kostrinsky bribed Judge Marquis,
 11 resulting in unfavorable rulings to Plaintiff. In turn, also in conclusionary fashion, he claims this 12 violated his due process and equal protection rights. As explained above, formulaic recitation of 13 the elements of a claim “are not entitled to an assumption of truth.” Moss, 572 F.3d at 969.
 14 Moreover, he has not pled facts to suggest that Michael Kostrinsky was acting under color of state
 15 law. As a result, the Court recommends this claim be dismissed with leave to amend.

16 4. Bivens claims

17 “To state a claim for relief under Bivens, a plaintiff must allege that a federal officer 18 deprived him of his constitutional rights.” Serra v. Lappin, 600 F.3d 1191, 1200 (9th Cir. 2010).
 19 Although the Supreme Court has not “dispense[d] with Bivens altogether,” it has “emphasized 20 that recognizing a cause of action under Bivens is ‘a disfavored judicial activity.’” Egbert v.
 21 Boule, 596 U.S. 482, 491 (2022) (quoting Ziglar v. Abbasi, 582 U.S. 120, 135 (2017)). In Ziglar,
 22 the Supreme Court set forth a two-part test to determine whether a Bivens claim may proceed: a 23 court first must consider whether the claim at issue extends Bivens in a new context from 24 previously established Bivens cases, and, if so, a court must then apply a “special factors 25 analysis” to determine whether there are “special factors counselling hesitation” in expanding 26 Bivens. Ziglar, 582 U.S. at 136. A Bivens action may constitute a new context depending on, for 27 example:

28 the rank of the officers involved; the constitutional right at issue; the generality or

1 specificity of the official action; the extent of judicial guidance as to how an officer should 2 respond to the problem or emergency to be confronted; the statutory or other legal 3 mandate under which the officer was operating; the risk of disruptive intrusion by the Judiciary into the functioning of other branches; or the presence of potential special factors that previous Bivens cases did not consider.

4 Id. at 140.

5 However, these two steps “often resolve to a single question: whether there is any reason to 6 think that Congress might be better equipped to create a damages remedy.” Egbert, 596 U.S. at 7 492. A court “must ask only whether it, rather than the political branches, is better equipped to 8 decide whether existing remedies ‘should be augmented by the creation of a new judicial 9 remedy.’” Id. at 493. “The question is ‘who should decide’ whether to provide for a damages
 10 remedy, Congress or the courts? The answer most often will be Congress.” Ziglar, 582 U.S. at 11 135.

12 As to the three cases that the Supreme Court has allowed to proceed under Bivens, it has 13 summarized those three cases as follows:

14 In Bivens v. Six Unknown Fed. Narcotics Agents, the Court broke new ground by holding 15 that a person claiming to be the victim of an unlawful arrest and search could bring a 16 Fourth Amendment claim for damages against the responsible agents even though no
 17 federal statute authorized such a claim. The Court subsequently extended Bivens to cover
 18 two additional constitutional claims: in Davis v. Passman, a former congressional staffer’s Fifth Amendment claim of dismissal based on sex, and in Carlson v. Green, a federal prisoner’s Eighth Amendment claim for failure to provide adequate medical treatment.

19 Hernandez v. Mesa, 589 U.S. 93, 99 (2020).

20 Claim 8

21 Plaintiff alleges that the VA has the sole authority to appoint a fiduciary for a veteran. But 22 Plaintiff alleges the state court appointed Nevada Guardianship Services, and that the VA
 23 “allowed the State District Court to usurp that authority.” He also alleges the VA should have 24 held the appointment of any successor fiduciary in abeyance until after the court of appeals
 25 decides the issue. Given the caselaw cited above, this claim would extend Bivens in a new 26 context. Ziglar, 582 U.S. at 136. Thus, the Court recommends that this claim be dismissed with 27 prejudice.

28 5. 42 U.S.C. § 12203

Claim 9

Plaintiff alleges he sued the VA in the past and, in turn, he was appointed as a fiduciary to Sarnelli. Plaintiff maintains the VA has since placed him on the “do not appoint” list. In turn, he claims that the VA discriminated against him or retaliated against him by placing him on that list. As a result, he alleges defendants violated 42 U.S.C. § 12203 (Prohibition against retaliation and coercion) and a miscellaneous provision of 42 U.S.C. §§ 12101 et. seq., also known as the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (“ADA”). Section 12203 is clear, however, in that it applies to retaliatory actions taken as a result of an individual’s opposition to any of the acts or practices “made unlawful by this Act.” 42 U.S.C. § 12203(a). Plaintiff has failed to identity any claim made under the ADA which might give rise to a retaliation claim under § 12203. Indeed, the retaliatory conduct he complains of is related to the fact that he previously sued the VA. Therefore, the Court recommends that this claim be dismissed with prejudice.

6. 31 U.S.C. § 6711Claim 10

Plaintiff alleges that based on claims 1-9, Judge Marquis, Aaron Ford, and several Jane and John Does have violated 42 U.S.C. § 12203 and 31 U.S.C. § 6711.

As explained above, Plaintiff has failed to identity any claim made under the ADA which might give rise to a retaliation claim under § 12203.

Turning to 31 U.S.C. § 6711, that statute provides: “[n]o person in the United States shall be excluded from participating in, be denied the benefits of, or be subject to discrimination under, a program or activity of a unit of general local government because of race, color, national origin, or sex.” Here, Plaintiff claims that Defendants discriminated against him “for attempting to exercise his legal and lawful rights” and not based on one of those categories. As a result, the Court recommends that this claim be dismissed with prejudice.

7. Abstention concerns

Several of Plaintiff’s claims stem from what appears to be an ongoing guardianship matter. Under the Supreme Court holding in Younger, however, generally, a federal court may not intervene by injunction or declaratory judgment in a pending state matter. Younger v. Harris, 401

1 U.S. 37 (1971). Younger abstention is concerned with overlapping principles of equity, comity,
2 and federalism and directs federal courts to abstain from granting injunctive or declaratory relief
3 that would interfere with pending state or local court proceedings in certain situations. See
4 Arevalo v. Hennessy, 882 F.3d 763, 765 (9th Cir. 2018); Gilbertson v. Albright, 381 F.3d 965, 5 973 (9th Cir. 2004). While Younger doctrine has been extended to “particular state civil 6 proceedings that are akin to criminal prosecutions . . . or that implicate a state’s interest in 7 enforcing the orders and judgments of its courts” See Sprint Commc’ns, Inc. v. Jacobs, 571
8 U.S. 69, 70 (2013) (citations and quotations omitted). This Court is not convinced, based on the 9 allegations in the complaint, that interference with Plaintiff’s ongoing state court proceedings
10 would be warranted or appropriate. Plaintiff should be mindful of these restrictions should he 11 seek to amend his complaint.

12 IV. Conclusion

13 IT IS THEREFORE ORDERED that Plaintiff’s application to proceed in forma
14 pauperis (ECF No. 1) is granted. Plaintiff is permitted to maintain this action to conclusion 15 without prepaying fees or costs or giving security for them.

16 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that the Clerk of Court must detach and file Plaintiff’s
17 complaint (ECF No. 1-1).

18 IT IS RECOMMENDED that:

- 19 • Nevada Guardianship Services, LLC be dismissed as a Defendant with leave to 20 amend.
- 21 • Plaintiff Nicholas Sarnelli be dismissed as Plaintiff without leave to amend.
- 22 • Claim 1 against Judge Marquis and Aaron Ford be dismissed with prejudice.
- 23 • Claim 2 against Legal Aid, Michael Kostrinsky, Sonja Jones, and Aaron Ford be 24 dismissed with prejudice.
- 25 • Claim 3 against Michael Kostrinsky and Legal Aid be dismissed with prejudice.
- 26 • Claim 4 against Aaron Ford and Judge Marquis be dismissed with prejudice.
- 27 • Claim 5 against Judge Marquis and Aaron Ford be dismissed with prejudice.
- 28 • Claim 6 against individuals comprising the Nevada Commission of Judicial

1 Discipline be dismissed with leave to amend.

- 3 • Claim 7 against Judge Marquis and Michale Kostrinsky be dismissed with leave to
- 4 amend.
- 5 • Claim 8 against the VA be dismissed with prejudice.
- 6 • Claim 9 against the VA be dismissed with prejudice.
- 7 • Claim 10 against Judge Marquis, Aaron Ford, and several Jane and John Does be
- dismissed with prejudice.

8 IT IS FURTHER ORDERED that if Plaintiff wishes to amend, he must do so by 9 October 7, 2024. If Plaintiff chooses to file a first amended complaint, he is advised that a first 10 amended complaint supersedes (replaces) the original complaint and, thus, the first amended 11 complaint must be complete in itself (his first amended complaint must contain all claims, 12 defendants, and factual allegations that Plaintiff wishes to pursue in this lawsuit including those 13 alleged in his original complaint). Failure to amend by the deadline may result in the case being 14 dismissed.

15 NOTICE

16 This report and recommendation is submitted to the United States district judge assigned
17 to this case under 28 U.S.C. § 636(b)(1). A party who objects to this report and recommendation 18 may file a written objection supported by points and authorities within fourteen days of being 19 served with this report and recommendation. Local Rule IB 3-2(a). Failure to file a timely 20 objection may waive the right to appeal the district court's order. Martinez v. Ylst, 951 F.2d 1153, 21 1157 (9th Cir. 1991).
